

Global Journal of Information Technology

Vol 5, No 2 December 2015

Message from the Editors

Dear Readers

It is the great honor for us to publish fifth issue of Global Journal of Information Technology.

Global Journal of Information Technology (GJIT) seeks to encourage academically robust papers, research, critical reviews and opinions on the organisational, social and management issues associated with significant information-based technologies. GJIT focuses on contemporary research addressing Information Technology including strategy, change, infrastructure, human resources, sourcing, system development and implementation, communications, technology developments, technology futures, national policies and standards. It also publishes articles that advance our understanding and application of research approaches and methods covering information technology, its evolution and future prospects.

IT in banking sector, online learning community, testing on cloud, IT in musical education have been included into this issue. The topics of the next issue will be different. You can make sure that we will be trying to serve you with our journal with a rich knowledge in which different kinds of topics are discussed in 2015 Volume.

A total of ten (10) manuscripts were submitted for this issue and each paper has been rigor peer reviewed by the reviewers specialized in the related field. At the end of the review process, a total of five (5) high quality research papers were selected and accepted for publication.

We thank all the contributors who helped us to publish this issue.

Best regard
