Message from Editor

Dear Readers,

It is a great honor for us to publish 7th volume, 3rd issue of Global Journal of Psychology Research: New Trends and Issues (GJPR).

Global Journal of Psychology Research: New Trends and Issues welcomes original empirical investigations and comprehensive literature review articles focusing on psychological issues and related disciplines. The mission of the journal is to publish articles of professional interest for members of psychology. The scope of the journal includes, but is not limited to; the following major areas of psychology science including clinical psychology, developmental psychology, social psychology, experimental psychology, industrial and organizational psychology, traffic psychology, forensic psychology, psychometric psychology, sports psychology, health psychology, educational psychology, media psychology and neuroscience psychology.

Aim of this issue is to give the researchers an opportunity to share the results of their academic studies. There are different research topics discussed in the articles. For example, Kristaps Circenis and colleagues examined fatigue and burnout among Latvian nurses and figured out that fatigue and burnout are common and are strongly associated in the nursing population in Latvia. In addition, Basak Baglama provided a review and discussed depression as an outcome or cause of sexual dysfunctions. Derya Ergin and Cemre Tatli investigated acquisition of sibling and family concepts based on Piagetian perspective. Finally, Darja Kobal Grum carried out a research in order to reveal eating behaviour in relation to personality dimensions and self-esteem. The topics of the next issue will be different. You can make sure that we will be trying to serve you with our journal with a rich knowledge in which different kinds of topics are discussed in 2017 Volume.

A total number of twelve (12) manuscripts were submitted for this issue and each paper has been subjected to double-blind peer review process by the reviewers specialized in the related field. At the end of the review process, a total number of four (4) high quality research papers were selected and accepted for publication.

We present many thanks to all the contributors who helped us to publish this issue.

Best regards,

Prof. Dr. Tulay Bozkurt

Editor – in Chief